

Felix Asade (Prof.) is an alumnus of the University of Huddersfield, United Kingdom where he graduated with a First-Class Honours degree in Human Resource Management and emerged the best student across four departments to win the prestigious Huddersfield Gold Award. He did his postgraduate studies at the Heriot Watt University in Scotland, United Kingdom and at Deakin University in Australia (Business Administration and Leadership respectively).

Felix had earlier qualified as a Chartered Credit Manager in London, UK, in 1989 and was involved in the Banking and Finance sector for almost a decade offering specialist services and consultancy in Credits. He was an instructor at the training schools of two banks: Bank of China and China Merchants Bank, both in Shenzhen, China.

Felix was CEO and owner of International Cashiers Ltd, a private bank in Nigeria, (Finance Company) between 1993 and 1995, before leaving the Finance Industry for Research and Ministry.

As a Researcher and Minister, Felix has been involved with different researches and with Foreign Missions since 1996. And as POTMI Research Professor of Missions, Felix has been involved with educating and developing missionaries across five Continents for more than two decades. He has pioneered and pastored several churches in ten countries. Felix is the President of House of God Incorporated, Australia and the President of Jesus Partners, a Missions Focused Ministry. Felix has been involved with academic research in the areas of Leadership and Social Change, at strategic and tertiary levels.

Felix Asade is an accomplished author who has written and published more than forty books on diverse subjects including three novels.